

Plane Crash, Homecoming Services Held in Peru

Village Places Flowers On Monument Commemorating Death of 16 Paratroopers On Carnel Peak

By Ed Toole

Peru, Aug. 14.—This village placed flowers on a monument to the 16 paratroopers who died in the crash of a plane today, commemorating the anniversary of the crash. The monument is a simple structure of stone, with a cross on top. It is located on a hillside overlooking the village. The paratroopers were killed in a crash on Carnel Peak in 1942. The village has since become a place of pilgrimage for those who wish to pay tribute to the fallen soldiers.

Although the plane was destroyed, the paratroopers were able to parachute safely. They were killed in a crash on Carnel Peak in 1942. The village has since become a place of pilgrimage for those who wish to pay tribute to the fallen soldiers.
